Client Privacy Policy

This privacy policy explains how we use any personal information we collect about you.

What information do we collect?

When you engage us to provide you with financial advice we will collect information about your personal and financial circumstances. We may also collect certain categories of sensitive personal data, including (but not limited to) your physical or mental health, political opinions, religious beliefs, sexual life, racial origin, criminal offences, or trade union activities, as necessary for the provision of our services. We may also collect information when you voluntarily provide feedback to us.

Collecting information about connected individuals

In order to ensure our advice is suitable we may need to collect information about individuals who are connected to you, such as close family members and dependants. In such cases, it will be your responsibility to ensure that you have the consent of the connected individual(s) to pass their information to us. We will ensure a copy of this Privacy Policy is available to them.

Why do we need to collect and use your personal information?

We have a legal and regulatory obligation to collect your personal information before we can provide you with advice. The information that we collect about you will enable us to offer you advice which is suitable for you, taking into account your personal and financial circumstances.

Who will we share your information with?

In order to advise you we may send your personal information to third parties, such as product and platform providers, life offices, mortgage lenders, back office system providers, identity verification companies and any other financial product provider which we have recommended to you.

We will have a contract in place with any third party involved in processing your personal information, ensuring that the third party has a clear purpose for processing your information and that they comply fully with all data protection laws. We will ensure that any transmission of your personal data to these third parties is secure.

If you agree, we may contact you from time to time with news and information about other products or services we believe may be of interest to you. We will not share your personal information with other companies for marketing purposes.

How long do we store your personal information for?

We are subject to regulatory requirements which govern how long we must retain your data; these are:

- Five years for investment business
- Three years for mortgage and insurance business
- Indefinitely for pension transfers and opt out business

These are minimum periods for which we have a legal obligation to retain your data. We reserve the right to retain data for longer where we have a legitimate interest to do so, subject to a maximum period of 50 years. You have the right to request deletion of your personal data, subject to the restrictions and legitimate interests noted above.

We will take all necessary measures to safeguard your personal information against unauthorised or unlawful processing and accidental loss or destruction or damage to the data.

How can I access the information you hold about me?

You have the right to request a copy of any or all of the personal information we hold about you. If you would like to do so, please submit a request in writing, by email or by telephone to the Data Protection Officer at the following address:

In writing: Watson French Ltd
